Main expected results

Aims	Objectives	Expected results
1. To promote cooperation between science and business by providing services to business	1.1. To collect information about the needs of the market	Applied Science Research Department and the (chair) Dapartments of the university establish close relationships with the businesses of western region of Lithuania, on a regular basis receives business orders to conduct applied research and consulting works.
	1.2. To provide information about services available through the detapartment to business
	1.3. To participate in public procurement of applied research and business consulting services
	1.4. To participate in the preparation of applied research and business consulting projects for receipt of EU funding
	1.5. To rrange events which help to build better relationships between representatives of the university and businesses
2. The journal, "Journal of Management" ISSN 1648-7974, published by the university is becoming a publication widely recognized by academic community.	2.1. To arrange the publication of the material from the international conference in the scientific journal "Journal of Management" ISSN 1648-7974.	Žurnalas Vadyba = Journal of Journal of Management ISSN 1648-7974 is becoming an easily accessible online, valued by academic community, popular and prestigious scientific journal
	2.2. To publish the journal on the university's official website
	2.3. To ensure the quality of the publication
	2.4 To apply anonymous peer-review system to the journal
	2.5 To make an effort to include the journal in international databases
3. To turn the university into an attractive study center which happily welcomes innovations	3.1. Once a year or every second year organize the International Conference "Sustainable regional development: Economics, Management, Technologies"	The university, by actively participating in Lithuanian academic life, creates and maintains the image of the flexible and innovations embracing institution
	3.2 To organize Student's Conference and the publication of its material on the university's website 3.3. To support the projects which provide innovate ideas and ecourage students' progressive thinking

	3.4. To encourage active participation of the university students and teachers in sience conferences, publication of articles, methodical materials and also in conferences conducted by other higher education schools
4. To centralize information about the scientific activities conducted by the university	4.1. To collect data from the departments of the university about ongoing activities of science, analize and evaluate rezults of the activities
	4.2 To collect data about the participation of the university in Lithuanian and international scientific programs
	4.3. To collect data about local and international projects conducted by the university
	4.4. To collect and store information about research conducted by the university
	4.5. To prepare the reports of the scientific activities of the university .	